SUN BEAMS

by WALTER M. BARRETT

Twenty-two years ago come April 6, "to vindicate the principals of peace and justice in the life of the world", the country became embroiled in World War No. 1. It behooves every American, from the President to the latest naturalized citizen, to look back upon the results of that "vindication of Peace and Justice." The cost of peace may be great to this counrty but the cost of war is so much greater that there is no comparison. Let's make April 6 our April Fools Day to remind us of that foolish act of the collective people of the United States and on April 6 each year rededicate ourselves to the slogan of the morning after—Never Again.

The Truckee community cleanup is going ahead, rain or shine, fry or freeze, and going ahead by leaps and bounds. The work, being done by some of the civic minded men and boys, is receiving the hearty approval of all concerned. Truckee has the most beautiful setting of any town in California, in our estimation, and there is no reason why, with a few more unwanted eye-sores removed, it can't be a really attractive community in itself.

All this wet weather may have its compensation. If we have it now, the chances for a clear day for the opening of the fishing season are greater—and what is so rare as a day in May, especially the first when the fish are biting.

We hope you all qualified to vote by registering before March 28. Of course you "no preference" voters will not be able to utilize your franchise May 7, but you Republicans and Democrats really should be on hand at the polls to choose your delegation to the conventions next summer. With conditions abroad and at home as they are, voting now is not only a duty but a luxury and one to be enjoyed by everone who follows a few simple rules.

Loynd presided. It was decided to inspect locations for the best place to construct a rearing pond before taking any definite action.

No decision was reached and the matter was again delayed pending a meeting next Wednesday evening at 8 p. m. in the California cafe when the meeting of the Lions Club will be turned over to the fishermen. At that time J. C. Lewis, in charge of the Tahoe State Fish Hatchery, will discuss various features of the program.

Harold Wilson Killed As Car Is Demolished

Last Rites Held Today For Truckee Resident At Grass Valley

WAS TRUCKEE NATIVE

Details of Fatal Mishap In South Not Revealed In Investigation

Funeral services were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the L. R. Jefford Funeral Home in Grass Valley for Harold John Wilson, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Wilson of Truckee, who expired in the Taft Community Hospital Sunday morning from a fractured skull suffered in an automobile accident near South Belridge, Kern County Saturday night at 5 o'clock.

The Knights of Pythias Lodge of Truckee conducted the impressive last sad rites for the young man who was widely and favorably known in this community. Interment was in the Nevada City cemetery.

Investigation of the fatal accident failed to reveal the cause. Wilson was known as a careful driver and the road where the tragedy occurred was straight, dry and free of traffic. The light coupe which he was driving skidded for some distance and overturned three times. An ambulance was summoned immediately and the injured man was rushed to the hospital.

The grief stricken parents were notified Saturday night but arrived in Taft a short time after the young man had died.

Wilson was a native of Truckee. He was born September 27, 1913. After attending grammar school at Reno he came to the Meadow Lake Union High School here and after his graduation went to the University of California and Berkeley from which he graduated with the class of 1939 with high honors.

Besides his father and mother, both highly respected residents of this community for many years, Harold is survived by his two brothers, Fosten W. Wilson of Graeagle and Leroy F. Wilson of Truckee. His grandmother was Mrs. C. M. Karchner of Nevada City.

NEW HAMPSHIRE'S PRIMARY

The fact that delegates favorable to the nomination of President Roosevelt for third term were chosen recently in the Democratic primary in New Hampshire has been advertised by New Deal leaders the country over as indicating the country wants Mr. Roosevelt for a third term. A careful analysis of the figures indicates that this is hardly the case, judging from the New Hampshire results.

It is true that the Roosevelt delegation defeated the entries of Mr. Garner and Mr. Farley. The entries of these latter two men had no organized support, while the delegates favorable to the third term idea had the active backing of the New Deal Democratic organization in New Hampshire with all its federal patronage.

But the point to be remembered is that in the primary the Republicans cast three times as many votes as the Democrats, with all the scurrying around that was indulged in to bring out a big Roosevelt vote. The Republican voters did not come out at the behest of any federal machine. But the fewer numbers of Democrats who turned out, most of them voting for the third term delegates, indicte just where the machine got in its work. Certainly the results furnish no great consolation for Messrs. Cohen, Corcoran and Ickes.

Furthermore it is fact that the vote cast by the Republicans for these delegates was greater than the G. O. P. vote in the similar primary of 1936 while the Roosevelt vote shrank 40 per cent in comparison with the 1936 Democratic primary vote when Roosevelt was unopposed.

Nobody who understands politics will seriously question the fact that Mr. Roosevelt, if he wants to be nominated for a third term, can get the nomination because he has the prestige of the presidential office behind him and the terrifically potent federal patronage machine which can always be used successfully to control a national convention.

But being nominated and elected are two different things. The ardent New Dealers believe that Mr. Roosevelt is the only man who can defeat the Republicans in the 1940 election and that he is a sure winner if nominated. Perhaps they are right. But it will take more evidence than that furnished by the New Hampshire primary to convince the astute political observer that the belief is infallible.

HE DIDN'T WANT PRAISE

Among the Green Hills of Vermont, in the farmhouse where, by the light of an oil lamp, Calvin Coolidge took the oath of office that made him the 30th President of the United States, there hangs a framed letter. The letter bears the signature of Calvin Coolidge, Jr., son of the President, who died while his father was in the White House. Here is an inspiring letter wrtte nby a boy still in his teens which ought to be read by all boys everywhere.

Someone had written to Calvin, Jr., calling him "the first boy of the land." In his answer, the son of the President said, in substance: "I have earned no right to be called 'the first boy of the land.' My father deserves all the credit. I deserve and want no recognition until I have erned it by my own actions."

One takes off his hat to any boy who refuses to bask in the reflected glory of a father's richness or greatness—who jumps into the arena of life and says, "I'll stand on my own feet. I'll fight my own fight. I want no credit for the deeds of other men—judge me by my own." America needs more boys like that!

Jimmy Cromwell's appointment as minister to Canada is another evidence of the debasement of our Foriegn Service, when such a post is awarded to a Cromwell simply because he "laid it on the line" when political campaign funds were needed.—Rep. Martin L. Sweeney, D., Ohio, Congressional Record, March 20, 1940.

To clear up any misunderstanding let me say that my name will be presented to the Democratic national convention at Chicago, and that's that. —James A. Farley, U. S. Postmaster General, Springfield, Mass., March 20, 1940.

A WORD OF WARNING

Counting Noses

(WNU Service)

Politically Speaking

by JOHN W. DUNLAP
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, April 4 —(U.P.)— Anyone who could perfect a foolproof system for predicting what politicians will do next might apply for work with the Democratic party.

The California Democrats provided quite a sideshow as the deadline drew near for qualifying the Roosevelt ticket for the May 7 presidential primary. Secretary of Interior Ickes dashed to California, got everyone together in a hotel room and announced a "harmony slate" had been picked among all Democratic factions.

Lieut. Gov. Ellis E. Patterson made a talk last week in Beverly Hills taking credit for aiding in getting the party together for Roosevelt. The arch-foes, Gov. Culbert Olson and former United States Senateor William Gibbs McAdoo, shook hands for the sake of the party.

And then what happened? Here are a few highlights:

Los Angeles Publisher Manchester Boddy said he did not think he would serve on the ticket because McAdoo represented a discredited faction of the party.

Assemblyman Godfrey Andreas of Uplands said he would withdraw, too.

Patterson mae a right about face and pulled out because the Olson-McAdoo ticket he helped form was not liberal enough and had no chance for election, he said. He formed his own ticket of liberals and progressives, surprisingly including the names of State Housing Commissioner Carey McWilliams and Fish and Game Commissioner Germaine Bulcke, supposedly allies of the governor.

McAdoo himself withdrew on the grounds that he was now out of politics but emphasized he was still for the president's ticket. tI was believed generally that he decided to drop off the ticket because of the possible legality of his activity under the Hatch Act while holding a federal position.

Congressman Lee Geyer, one of the few representatives to accept a place on the ticket, announced his withdrawal from Washington.

Although somewhat riddled, the Roosevelt ticket still has to be rated the favorite, chiefly because of the important names and the popularity of the president. The Garner forces predict the Roosevelt split will boomerang to the vice president's favor.

Who knows?

Now that so many legislative committees are hunting methods of cutting down state expenses, the five-county plan for California has been suggested. This would divide the state into five big areas, with tentative county names of Los Angeles for the nine southern counties; Santa Barbara for the central coastal area; Fresno for the great inland valley and central Sierra; San Francisco for the 26 counties inland from the harbor and Humboldt for the extreme northern counties.

The plan is offered to cut heavy administrtaive expenses of the state's 58 counties and is estimated to have a potential saving of $31,000,000 a year. Chef criticism comes from those who oppose losing the local control of counties and from citizens with pride in history and local identity. The plan is not likely to get any further than the oft-suggested idea of dividing California in half.

The activity of various committees is a healthy sign, however. Assemblyman Jacob Leonard of Hollister summed up the situation in his district when he said that taxpayers can't be expected to contribute more, willingly, and some way must be devised to avoid new taxes. The only alternative, he said, is to find economies.

Leonard pointed out that tax collections in 1929 amounted to $106,000,000 and more than doubled by 1939, with a total of $236,000,000.

Although getting off to a ltae start the assembly committee on governmental efficiency and economy has a wide horizon on which to seek facts. Department heads are being called in to see if they can suggest practical economies. Departmental publications, propaganda and publicity expenses will receive a thorough inspection. The above normal expenses of the Lieutenant Governor also interests Chairman Don Allen and his committee.

If properly conducted, the work of the committee should tie in with efforts of the Olson administration to suggest economies. State government has been mushrooming for a long time with little effort to call a halt. The topheavy cost of relief and a mounting deficit has made it mandatory to put on the brakes. It seems to be a tough job but one already put off too long.

POSTMASTER SERVES TAHOE 27 YEARS WITH OUT STOP

(By Anne B. Anderson)

TAHOE CITY, April 4.— Mrs. Janet Watson, postmaster at Tahoe City, will complete her 27th consecutive year in the local office next month.

Genial and competent, Mrs. Watson througout the years has endeavored to give good service. Some of the local citizens may not know that keeping the post office open on Sundays, in the summer for an hour and also on holidays, is done by the postoffice staff as a favor and is not required by office regulations.

Through such acts, which also include remaining well after hours of closing in many cases, Mrs. Watson and her assistant, Miss Ida Pomin, are well knwon and liked by both Tahoeites and the thousands of summer residents who return each year.

TAHOE COUPLE WED

TAHOE CITY, April 4.— The regular meeting of the Tahoe Sik Club attracted 50 members and guests to Community Center Friday. Plans to purchase insurance for Tahoe contestants were formulated. Discussion of the increase in membership dues followed. Plans for a benefit card party on April 26 were completed. Jess Sisk asked for assistance in removing the old pump installed at the ice rink.

Cards followed the business meeting with prizes at bridge going to Mrs. Carl Bechdolt, Jr. and consolation to Tejas Edwards. At pinochle Weller Atherton was high and Bud Walker low.

TAHOE SCHOOL NOTES

The Ski team of Tahoe branch of the Placer Union high school returned Sunday from the Interscholastic Ski meet at Bishop with many honors. Billy Bechdolt, captain, won first place in the downhill race, first in the slalom and third in the cross country. Richard Carnell won third in the slalom, fourth in the downhill and sixth in the cross country. Pete Vanni won tenth place in the downhill and 12th in the cross country. Helen Worden won first place in the girls' slalom. Pat Henry missed a flag and was disqualified. The team was handicapped by having only three contestants while other schools ha teams of from five to eight. The girls points could not count on the team scores. An unfortunate occurance on the homeward trip was the hitting of a rock on the highway by the car driven by Bernard Corrigan, athletic coach. The car received such damage that it was left at Bridgeport for repairs. Tahoe contestants spoke highly of the well conducted meet. Part of the runoff was in a blinding storm.

Two new students in the high school this week are Blake and Leatrice Goss of Lake Forest who are in the junior and freshman classes.

Many fine pieces of handmade furniture are bing turned out by the high school students in their shop work classes directed by Bernard Corrigan.

Charles and Oliver Henriksen of Lake Forest spent the weekend at their Tahoe home. Both boys were on the University of Nevada Ski team.

MORE DETAILS OF FAMOUS 601 ARE SEEN IN HISTORY

The following is another excerpt from The Tourist Guide and Directory to the Truckee Basin, published at the Truckee Republican office by C. F. Edwards, publisher, in 1883. The following picks up the story of the "601" where we left it last week.

Spencer remained until the western train came along, when he boarded it, and went to the hospital at Nevada City. He had received notice some time before signed "601," to the effect that he must not be found in town after a certain time. He went and returned a short time after, being out of town, generally remaining during the night at a cabin, some distance out. He was advised repeatedly by officers and citizens to leave and remain away until the affair had fully blown over. He acknowledged the wisdom of the advice, and said every day that he intended, and would leave at certain times, which passed, and found him still here. Threats of serious nature against three of four men, of whom he is reported to have spotted, were reported as coming from him, which may, and may not, have hurried on this act:

This was the last positive act of the 601's. A red ribbon tacked to a man's door, was sufficient notice, and the warned parties stood not upon the order of their going, but went at once. One party who had received the "warning" in the morning, went about the streets during the day vowing vengenance on the men who sent it, and swore he would spill his last drop of blood before he quit the town, but the shades of evening brought a change o'er the spirit of his dreams, and he is doubtless, still uttering anathemas against 601, in some removed place, at least he never has appeared in Truckee since, although that was over ten years ago.

On several other occasions there has been talk of re-organizing, but the determination of the men composing the order was too well known, and the desparadoes who had them to fear, either quietly changed their habits or their place of residence, and thus prevented the necessity. The 601's have done their work and passed into—if not oblivion—at least to a state of repose, from it is hoped, they will never have occasion to awaken. Their actions are condemned by many, but their fruits were good, and tended to make Truckee what it is now, a peaceful, quiet mountain town on top of the Sierra Nevada mountains.

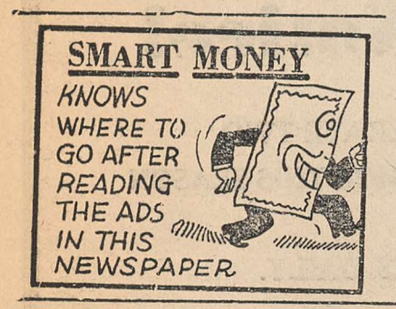
Unemployment Checks In County Show Big Gain

Unemployment insurance payments to California workers during February showed a 206 per cent gain over February, 1939, with 454,468 checks being written during the past month for a total of $5,684,801.31 as compared with last year's benefit total of 293,917 checks aggregating $2,765,-6779.03.

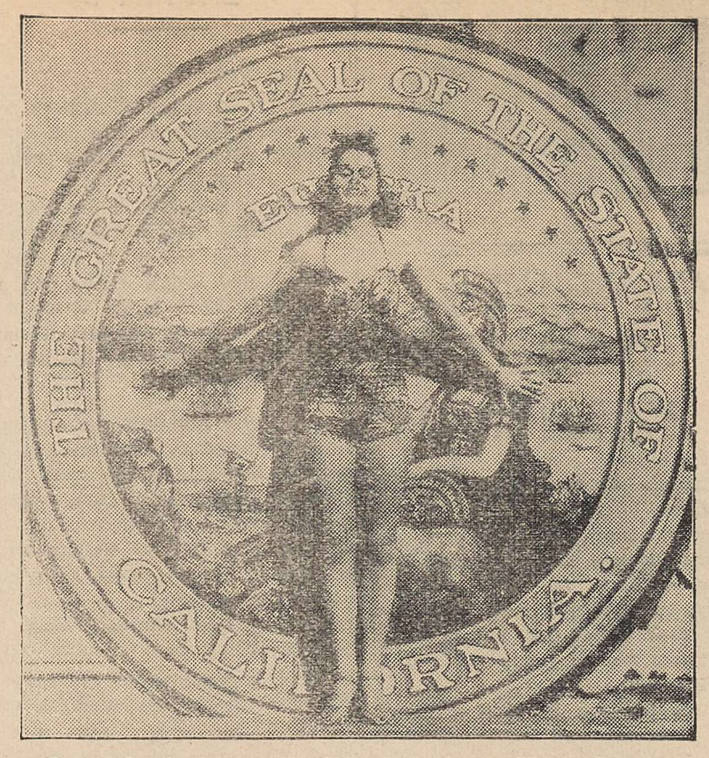
This was announced this week by Edward E. Steele, manager of the Grass Valley office of the State Department of Employment.

Benefit claimants in Nevada county area received 1,807 checks amounting to $26,093.35, Steele stated.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Pomin of Tahoe City were guests of their son, Stanley and family at Tallac last week.



California Welcomes World



Backed by the great seal of the State, pretty Marian Dennison, Sacramento's capitol city candidate for the title of "Miss Streamline" at the Golden Gate International Exposition for 1940, typifies the statewide welcome that California will extend to visitors from all over the world when the gates swing open on May 25. The extensive California and county exhibits, presented by the California Commission, form a highly colorful and important part of the vast Treasure Island wonderland.

The Man At The Keyhole

by OPERATIVE WB

THE MAN ikbooo t|ETAAOIN S½

The long-heralded "wet" and "dry" battle at the fall elections, our spy advises, has been indefintely postponed—due to a financial drought in prohibition circles! Dry leaders, unable to raise the necessary funds to get their local option proposal on the November ballot, have decided to spend a couple of years in preliminary spade work.

Since the famous Ickes-Olson "harmony meet", which ended in earsplitting discords that played hob with the third term symphony in California, some of the Democratic bigwigs have advised Mr. Roosevelt that Secretary Ickes may be a good harpist, but is a rotten conductor. And messengers returning from Washington report that the President reluctantly agreed with them.

Borbon leaders are getting so alarmed over inroads of Communists, who register as members of the Democratic party and then "bore from within", that the word has gone out to banish all suspected Stalinists from party councils. And indignant party chieftans, unwilling to recognize the termites as Democrats, have coined a new word for them. They're called "Communacrats."

THIS WEEK IN THE CAPITAL

by NEWTON STEARNS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, April 4 —(U.P.)— The presidential primary contest in California emerged during the week as a civil war between factions of the Democrtaic party, with the Republicans united and sitting on the sidelines cheering the split.

A "harmony" move promoted by U. S. Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes collapsed under the weight of diverging personalities in the golden state's political scene, and four tickets got under the wire for the Democratic ballot as the lists closed last Thursday.

On the Republican side, all factions were kept in line by the powerful central committee organization and only one sltae of delegates qualified for the ballot. The ticket is nominally pledged to State Senator Jerrold Seawell, of Roseville, for the presidential nomination, but the delegates will be released by him after the election and will go uninstructed to the Philadelphia convention.

Secretary Ickes did his best to confine the Democratic contest to only two delegations—one pledged to Vice President John Nance Garner, which already was in the field when "Honest Harold" made his flying trip to the coast, and another supporting President Roosevelt for a thir term.

For a time the harmony move appeared successful. All New Dealers were herded together on a slate headed by Gov. Culbert Olson and former U. S. Senator William G. McAdoo. Almost at once, howere, there were disaffections. Lieut.-Gov. Ellis E. Patterson balked at sleeping in the same political bed with McAdoo and others who were included in the "compromise" ticket, and formed a "rump" delegation pledged to himself.

Then the politically important "ham and eggs" pension group was withdrawn from the popular front by organization of a fourth slate pledged nominally to Willis Allen, leader of the pension group, for the presidential nomination.

Finally, McAdoo himself quit the setup engineered by Ickes, with the explanation he was now "out of politics." There was no doubt he still favors a third term for President Roosevelt but presumably he withdrew because he feared legality of his candidacy might be challenged because of his quasi-federal position as the $25,000-a-year chairman of the board of the U. S. maritime commision's American President steamship line.

Even so, a legal contest was in prospect. Lieut.-Gov. Patterson contended that the Olson ticket was illegal because the petitions were filed with not only his name but also the names of others who "took a walk."

Local Pastor Is Named In Will Of Placer Priest

Rev. William Daly of Truckee was named in the will of Father Richard Vereker, recently filed for probate in the Placer County Superior court by James Edward Martin and Rev. James B. Dermody of Chico who were named as executors.

Father Vereker who died recently left his estate of several thousand dollars for church work, to relatives and friends. The document itemized the local bequest as follows: I leave to the Reverend William Daly of Truckee the sum of $200 for masses to be offered for my intentions at $2.50 for a mass.

But Pattreson was faced with the same kind of trouble when there were desertions from his own left-wing slate.

The legisltaure will be asked when it reconvenes in May to appropriate a flood rehabilitation fund similar to the $5,000,000 voted in 1938 following disastrous floods over most of the state.

State Engineer Edward Hyatt reported total damage from the floods at more than $12,000,000 but this figure includes private damage, for which state funds cannot be used. Adding to the already heavy damage was new inundation resulting from storms of last week.

The state reclamation board requested $1,500,000 in state funds and a similar amount in federal money for repair of levees and irrigation works torn out by the floods, but nearly $1,000,000 in additional requests for repairs to highways, bridges and other damage have been received by the department of public works for the February storms alone.

Gov. Olson made a personal inspection tour of the flooded area last week and took occasion to urge the greatest possible speed in completing an adequate flood control program for the valley.

Meanwhile⅛ the state water project authority instructed Engineer Hyatt to go to Washington in the interests of obtainng additional funds for completion of the Central Valley project which in itself will provied a measure of flood control, particularly through stroage of waters of the Sacramento river beyond Shasta Dam, now under construction near Redding.

NOTE: This column, which will appear from time to time in this paper will deal with presonalities on the scene politic in the district, state and nation. In other words with tmebr for office.---DB

This week's stalking stallion is the old war horse from Stanford University campue, Herbert—you guessed it—Hoover.

I can just see mouths dropping open at the suggestion that he is a possizle starter in the sweepstakes and, frankly, we are dealing with him purely from a standpoint of academic conjecture.

There are those who say that Mr. Hoover can't win—that he hasn't the appeal to win. I wonder how many fo us remember the year 1928 when Our Hero carried not only all the north, east and west but even made serious inroads into the Democratic sanctum sanctorum, the Solid South? A man needs more than a chubby face and a Quaker perserverance to do that against so popular a man as Al Smith was in those days. I challenge any other Republican to duplicate the landslide victory of Hoover in '28.

The country is more and more convinced that the Hoover administration's mistakes were results of (1) world conditions (2) a Democratic and hostile congress and (3) Mr. Hoover's unwillingness to compromise rather than his alleged inability. The country is awakened to the fact that the real Democratic platform of '32 was not as it appeared on the surface but merely a "smear Hoover" document. There is an agressive minority who believe that they were sold "a bill of goods" by Roosevelt, Farley & Co. and feel that Hoover should get a real chance to make good.

Then there is the matter of his fight for valiant litle Finland which was so bitterly opposed by the Communists and seemed to solidify a vaporous and latent pro-Hoover sentiment throughout the nation.

It is well known that the unpledged delegation of California Republicans in the field is top-heavy with Hooverites, The strategy of capturing unpledged delegaions isan old trick to the head of the House of Hoover.

In this year of surprises and upsets, don't be surprised—or upset—if you should see the slogan "Who But Hoover?" appearing after tho G. O. P. love feast in Philadelphia in June.

SACRAMENTO, April 4 —(U.P.)— An increased program of conservation instruction in the public schools has been advoctaed by the Department of Natural Resources.

Some schools have encouraged training in conservation of natural resources but the new campaign will make it universal throughout the state. A special committee appointed by the governor will coordinate the work.

Director Richard Sachse is bringing various divisions closer together in interdepartmental activities. One innovation was the recent conference at Big Sur, where the divisions of forestry, fish and game, parks, natural gas, oil and mining met together for the first time.

Better Light HELPS KEEP EYES RIGHT!

PEOPLE say modern lighting that is "easy on the eyes" makes the eyes feel better . . . And they are right . . . Good lighting brings out the beauty of the home furnishings . . . It aids personal beauty, too.

Light that is glaring brightness or that is dim and gloomy makes hard work of seeing. It causes squints and frowns and scowls and brings on many premature wrinkles and face-lines.

Good, modern lighting merely means the right kind of light, and the right amount of light where you read or sew or use your eyes. And you can have it easily, quickly, inexpensively.

ONE MAN'S MEAT

If the Pintail Duck were not just the right size for one meal, he might not be the target for so many market hunters who like to shoot him illegally while he feeds in the rice fields of the Sacramento Valley. The Game Law enforcement agents, local as well as state and federal, carry on a constant warfare with these selfish despoilers who do their murderous work at night when the birds are feeding. But the ducks are now on the winning side. Due to increased public sentiment in favor of conservation, more and more of these law violators are being given heavy fines and jail sentences. A decade ago it was comparatively easy to buy a wild duck dinner; today it is difficult, because the restaurant proprietor faces a prison sentence if he is caught serving it.

Francis Lee Jaques painted the Pintail Duck for the 1940 series of Wildlife Poster Stamps distributed by the National Wildlife Federation.
